EARN UP TO 20 CE HOURS!

AANP American Association of Nurse Practitioners™
AANP cordially invites you to join your colleagues at the 2016 Specialty & Leadership Conference, September 22-25, 2016, at the Hyatt Regency O’Hare, Rosemont, IL.

Why Attend the 2016 Specialty & Leadership Conference?

- Four featured tracks
- Earn up to 20 contact hours of continuing education (CE)
- Opportunity to network with professionals within your specialty
- Opportunity to obtain up-to-date product and service information in the AANP Exhibit Hall and at non-CE lunch product theaters if provided

Tracks

- Business/Health Policy/Leadership
  This track will showcase a three-prong approach for professional development by presenting Leadership, Business and Health Policy topics of interest to experienced NPs who seek to develop leadership and management skills or to explore new horizons in business or health policy. Nurse practitioners interested in legislative issues will be provided the opportunity to discuss with experts about legislative initiatives and explore strategies for eliminating barriers to NP practice.

- Convenient Care/Urgent Care
  This track will provide sessions focused on evidence-based practice for the retail and urgent care practitioners in the care of their patients. Topics span across multiple genres including a special panel discussion and focuses on increasing providers’ skill set in effectively delivering high quality care. Through interactive case studies the sessions will stimulate critical thinking and engage the sharing of best practices enriching the experience of learning. Presentation topics reflect the patient population served in this setting from pediatrics to gerontology.

- Dermatology
  The Dermatology track is intended for experienced advanced practice providers practicing in primary care that have incorporated or desire to incorporate dermatology into their practice. Care of the dermatology patient across the lifespan will be covered. Participants should be able to accurately assess patients for dermatology symptoms, develop a differential diagnosis and provide effective treatment options with follow up care for common skin disorders. A wide range of dermatology topics will be discussed to strengthen the participant’s current knowledge.

- Pain Management/Palliative Care
  The Pain Management/Palliative Care track is full of important and timely information presented by a variety of national experts. Recognizing that Primary Care is an important aspect of Pain Management and Palliative Care, sessions will focus on engaging the patient with chronic pain, treating neuropathic pain, and managing the palliative care patient who has a substance abuse problem. Each session will include the latest in evidence based guidelines for treating pain in your patients and attendees will gain useful information to take back to their daily practice.
Continuing Education/Pharmacology Contact Hours

This conference is pending approval for continuing education (CE) and pharmacology credit by the American Association of Nurse Practitioners Accreditation Program. Programs were planned in accordance with AANP CE Standards and Policies.

Approved pharmacology credit will be posted on the conference website when available. All NP state regulatory agencies and certifying bodies recognize and accept AANP CE credit.

Industry Sponsored Product Theaters

Non-CE lunch product theater (PT) presentations are funded entirely by the sponsoring company, allowing AANP to offer complimentary access to a limited number of these presentations.

Due to their educational focus, requirements and restrictions, attendance is available only to conference registered attendees. Registration/admission will occur at the entrance of each scheduled event on a first-come, first-served basis. You must have your conference badge with you to be scanned for admission. There will be no pre-registration.

The occurrence of each PT and its presentation information at the AANP 2016 Specialty & Leadership Conference is not an AANP product endorsement.

Presentation Handouts

The presentation handout link will be emailed to all conference registrants. Registrants are encouraged to print the materials or download them on an electronic device prior to attending sessions.

Name Badges

Registered Attendees: Registered attendees MUST wear their official conference name badge at all times to access conference events.

Guests of Registered Attendees: Complimentary name guest badges for persons age 16 and older will be available at AANP Registration Operations. Picture ID with proof of age and signature is required by AANP registration personnel. This guest badge allows entrance into the Exhibit Hall Only.

Children

Children (including infants) under the age of 16 are not allowed in conference sessions or the Exhibit Hall due to safety concerns, audio recording and maintaining an appropriate learning environment.

Conference Attire

Attire is business casual. The Hyatt Regency O’Hare strives to keep rooms at a comfortable temperature, but layered clothing is strongly suggested.

Sitting & Standing in Classrooms

Sitting in chairs is required in classrooms for the majority of presentations due to Fire Marshall regulations. Sitting on floors is not permitted. Standing is not allowed unless there is a hands-on or networking portion of the presentation, or you have a medical or health condition. Please kindly inform the classroom assistant(s) if you have a medical or health condition and need to stand during part of a presentation.

Force Majeure

In the event AANP should find it necessary to cancel or postpone the AANP 2016 Specialty & Leadership Conference for any reason, including but not limited to, low registration, strikes, acts of nature, war, terrorist acts or other circumstances beyond AANP’s control, then AANP’s liability shall be limited to refund of registration fees paid to AANP.

Codes for Session Content Levels
Each track session as applicable within the conference schedule is assigned one of the following content level codes:

[AB] Advanced Beginner: Guidelines for action based on attributes or aspects. Situational perception still limited. All attributes and aspects are treated separately and given equal importance.

[P] Proficient: Sees situations holistically rather than in terms of aspects. Sees what is most important in a situation. Perceives deviations from the normal pattern. Decision-making less labored. Uses maxims for guidance, whose meaning varies according to the situation.

[E] Expert: No longer relies on rules, guidelines or maxims. Intuitive grasp of situations based on deep tacit understanding. Analytic approaches used only in novel situations or when problems occur. Vision of what is possible.

Disclosures
Attendance at any conference session does not indicate nor guarantee competence or proficiency in the performance of any procedures which may be discussed or taught.

Content presented reflects the knowledge and opinion(s) of the speakers and does not necessarily reflect the positions and views of AANP. While currently confirmed, the conference schedule and speakers are subject to change at any time.

Atopic Dermatitis: Control & Management of a Chronic Skin Disease

Atopic Dermatitis is a chronic, relapsing inflammatory skin disease. The impact of this disease not only affects the patient, but can impact the entire family as well as school, work and friendships. The itching from this disease can be relentless and all-consuming with serious sleep disruptions, which then has a greater impact on quality of life. We will discuss the basics of diagnosing as well as short and long term treatment management and goals. There are several new targeted medications on the horizon that will offer an entirely new way to treat atopic dermatitis and may change the landscape on how we are able to manage the disease over time. Topical and systemic corticosteroids are currently the mainstay used to manage atopic dermatitis; discussion will focus on safe long-term use of steroids as well as non-steroidal anti-inflammatories and the important teaching and educational points for safe patient use. Other treatments that play a role in controlling this disease will also be discussed, these include use of antibiotics for secondary infections and antihistamines.

Susan Tofte, MS, BSN, FNP-C

Opioids and Co-Analgesics: A Medication Review & Hidden Issues

Prescribing and combining medications to treat pain can be confusing at times. Patients do not always respond as hoped and issues such as hypogonadism or opioid hyperalgesia can occur with long-term use. This presentation will review current opioid choices and describe the use of co-analgesics to improve pain relief for patients. The issue of hypogonadism, estrogen effect, and opioid induced hyperalgesia will also be discussed. You may find the answer to dealing with difficult pain presentations.

Susan Tofte, MS, BSN, FNP-C

Primary Care Injectable Pain Management Strategies

This presentation will be used to provide those NPs with knowledge to safely and with increased confidence, consider and apply primary care injectable musculoskeletal techniques that address the most commonly requested areas for injections. The presentation will allow for the NP to more safely define when such procedures should be used, medications commonly used, indication and contraindication considerations and informed consents.

David LaFever, DNP, FNP-BC
10:30AM – 11:45AM  CONCURRENT PRESENTATIONS (1.25 hrs CE)

B  C  SP16.1.009  Surviving the Transitioning to Value Based Reimbursement

The focus of this presentation will be on the transition from fee for service (FFS) to alternative value based payment for nurse practitioners (NPs) in Medicare, Medicaid and private insurance. With the passage of MACRA and the repeal of the use of the SGR formula, payment systems for medical services provided by NPs as well as physicians will change. Nurse practitioners, along with physicians will be in the first wave to move from fee for service payment to alternative systems. It is important for NPs to know and understand what this will mean for them in the very near future. This presentation will discuss the changes coming down the pike; the impact they will have on NP practice, and how NPs need to adjust and position themselves for these changes.

Jan Towers, PhD, NP-C, CRNP, FAAN, FAAN

12:00PM – 1:15PM  TENTATIVE NON-CE LUNCH

PRODUCT THEATER(S) (Registered Attendees Only) OR LUNCH ON OWN

1:30PM – 2:45PM  CONCURRENT PRESENTATIONS (1.25 hrs CE)

B  AB  SP16.1.018  Developing an NP Business Plan

What is a business plan? Do you really need one? What skills have you developed as an NP will help you in developing a successful business plan? Learn the answers to these questions and other questions in this informative presentation.

Margaret A. Fitzgerald, DNP, FNP-BC, NP-C, FAANP, FAAN, CSP, FAAN, DCC, FNAP

C  SP16.1.010  Emerging Infectious Diseases 2016: A Discussion of New & Upcoming Infections

This presentation will provide the nurse practitioner with information regarding emerging trends in infectious disease. We will look at the management of common viral and bacterial infections including MRSA, Influenza, Pertussis, Zika Virus, Ebola, Enterovirus, Lyme Disease and Herpes Simplex.

Wendy L. Wright, MS, APRN, FNP, FAANP, FAAN

D  SP16.1.011  Cutaneous Manifestations of Systemic Diseases: What the Skin Tells You About the Body.

The skin is the largest organ of the body. Some conditions of the skin may indicate a potential internal disease or dysfunction. The ability to identify these cutaneous manifestations of internal or systemic conditions and malignancy is important. This presentation will include the clinical presentation, differential diagnosis, work-up and appropriate treatment of common skin manifestations related to endocrine, gastrointestinal/liver disorders, renal disease and internal malignancies.

Susan T. Voss, DNP, FNP-BC, DCNP, FAANP

P  SP16.1.012  Integrative Approaches to Managing Pain in Primary Care

To provide alternatives to opioid prescribing, this presenter will discuss options for management of chronic pain beyond the allopathic formulary. Tools that you may wish to recommend or that your patients may be using, including movement, botanicals/herbals, functional medicine, energy medicine and mind body approaches will be reviewed. Evidence regarding potential benefits and harm will be discussed.

Deb Kiley, DNP, ANP, NP-C, FNP-BC, FAANP, FNAP

D  SP16.1.020  Non-Melanoma Skin Cancers: Identification & Treatment Options

The learner will become familiar with the development and clinical presentation of Basal Cell Skin Cancer and Squamous Cell Carcinomas and with destructive and ablative treatment modalities.

Victoria Lazareth, MA, MSN, NP-C, DCNP

P  SP16.1.021  Slipping Through the Cracks: Children with Headaches

This presentation will provide epidemiologic data regarding children with primary headache disorders. We will discuss how to appropriately evaluate children with a chief complaint of headache and the classification of primary headache disorders and appropriate evidence-based pharmacologic and non-pharmacologic treatment. Information will be provided about secondary causes of headache in children. There will be discussion about chronic daily headache, post traumatic headache, and evaluation and treatment of children that present with headache to the Emergency Department. Resources will be provided that NPs can easily access to assist them in the proper treatment of pediatric headache.

Christina Treppendahl, FNP-BC
3:00PM – 4:15PM  CONCURRENT PRESENTATIONS (1.25 hrs CE)

B SP16.1.022  Creating a Medical Home
The speaker will discuss her practice, becoming a recognized medical home, letting it lapse and reapplying. The costs and benefits as well as quality evaluations also will be discussed.

Kathleen Kidder, MSN-CS, APRN, FAANP

CU SP16.1.023  What Is On the Shelf? Over the Counter and Prescription Medications for the Treatment of Cough & Cold Symptoms
What URI symptoms do patients find most problematic? What medication and nutritional supplements are potentially helpful in minimizing these symptoms? What products have questionable efficacy? Find out the answers to these questions in this presentation based in best evidence.

Margaret A. Fitzgerald, DNP, FNP-BC, NP-C, FAANP, CSP, FAAN, DCC, FNAP

D SP16.1.024  Biopsy Techniques: When to Shave, Punch or Excise
The participant will learn the different indications and technical considerations for performing skin biopsies to assist in the diagnosis and management of challenging rashes and suspicious lesions. The participant will learn to identify the fundamental principles and various techniques of performing cutaneous biopsies including site selection, local anesthesia, hemostasis, specimen management, potential complications and appropriate wound care.

Victoria Lazareth, MA, MSN, NP-C, DCNP

P SP16.1.025  Women’s Pain Issues: The Same or Different?
Is women’s pain different than men’s pain? For many years, research was done only on male subjects because of the fear of the estrogen effect. Since the NIH mandate to include females in study populations some very interesting differences in pain perception and response have emerged. This presentation will discuss the physiologic differences in women that affect the way pain is perceived and the response to pain. Recent research is demonstrating that some primarily women’s conditions are interrelated in ways that were previously unknown. Conditions that will be discussed include IBS, fibromyalgia and migraine.

Yvonne D’Arcy, MS, CRNP, CNS, FAANP

4:30PM – 6:00PM  EXHIBIT HALL GRAND OPENING & RECEPTION

8:00AM – 9:15AM  CONCURRENT PRESENTATIONS (1.25 hrs CE)

B SP16.2.001  Healthcare is Changing, Are You Ready?
By 2019, payments to healthcare providers will largely be based on quality instead of quantity. AANP partnered with the National Nurse-Led Care Consortium to participate in the Transforming Clinical Practices Initiative, one of the largest federal investments designed to support and prepare clinicians for this paradigm shift. Funding through this initiative enables AANP to provide continuing education about changes coming to healthcare. Participants will learn about this new peer-led quality improvement initiative, how to participate as NP representation of primary care providers and how it can improve practice and lay the foundation for value-based payment structures.

Michelle L. Cook, PhD(c), MPH, Vice President of Research, AANP and CDR Stefani Glenn, ANP-BC, ACNP-BC, US Public Health Service

D SP16.2.002  Depression and Anxiety: Latest in Treatment Recommendations
This presentation focuses on the assessment of the person with common mood disorder as well as the choice of effective therapeutic agents. Learn helpful tips on the appropriate use of psychotropic medications and nutraceutical for the treatment of these commonly encountered health problems.

Margaret A. Fitzgerald, DNP, FNP-BC, NP-C, FAANP, CSP, FAAN, DCC, FNAP

D SP16.2.003  Cosmetic Dermatology Update
This learning activity will begin with a review of facial anatomy with a focus on learning safe injection techniques. Botulinum Toxin A pharmacokinetic and pharmacodynamic information will be shared as well as pharmacologic principles associated with current FDA approved fillers utilized for soft tissue augmentation. Pharmacologic anesthesia principles will be shared with a focus on patient comfort throughout the procedure. Post treatment recommendations will be shared as well as the current recommendations for treatment of potential complications. We will finish this educational journey together with interactive case studies that illustrate options for optimum cosmetic results.

Heather Roebuck, DNP, FNP-BC, FAANP
Patient Engagement: Tools for Partnering with Patients with Chronic Pain to Improve Function & Outcomes

Patient engagement is an important component in the management of chronic disease, especially chronic pain. This presentation will describe patient engagement and techniques to enhance engagement of both patient and family to improve function, outcomes as well as patient and clinician satisfaction. Transtheoretical Change Model and Motivational Interviewing approaches will be reviewed. Focusing on a nonjudgmental, partnership approach, cases will be used to illustrate techniques from coaching and motivational interviewing perspectives.

Deb Kiley, DNP, ANP, NP-C, FNP-BC, FAANP, FNAP

9:30AM – 10:45AM

CONCURRENT PRESENTATIONS (1.25 hrs CE)

Legal Issues for NPs

Nurse practitioners face questions of a legal nature almost every day. In this presentation, an attorney will provide guidance on frequently asked questions. For example:

- My patient shouldn’t be driving. Is it a HIPAA violation if I tell someone who could get him to stop?
- My employer wants me to sign a contract saying if I leave his practice, I won’t work within 25 miles for 2 years. Can he make me do this?
- I believe my employer is billing my visits inappropriately. What should I do?
- Am I entitled to reports on my billings?
- Must I prescribe refills for scheduled drugs for my colleagues’ patients even if I disagree with the plan?
- I’d like to open my own practice. I need a collaborating physician. The physician wants to know if he is liable for any error I might make. Is he?
- I am a women’s health NP. My employer wants me to treat sinusitis, mental health problems and male partners of my patients. Can I?

Carolyn Buppert, MSN, JD

Future of Healthcare for Convenient & Urgent Care Clinics

This panel presentation will discuss issues facing the future of health care in retail and urgent care settings looking at opportunities and threats. Topics will include, but not be limited to, Access to Care, Managed Care, Uninsured Vulnerable Populations, Integration of Care Delivery and Reimbursement.

Panelists: Sue Ferbet, RN, MSN, FNP-BC; Angela Patterson, DNP, FNP-BC, NEA-BC and Nancy Zaner, MSN, FNP-BC, MBA, FAANP

Moderator: Phyllis Smith, DNP, MBA, APN, FNP-BC

Acne, Perioral Dermatitis & Rosacea: What You Need to Know

This learning activity will start with pathophysiology and common presentations of acne, perioral dermatitis and rosacea and evidence-based pharmacologic treatment options. Dermatologic updates also will be discussed specifically related to research findings appreciated in the past year for each diagnosis. We will finish this educational journey together with interactive case studies that illustrate how to properly diagnose and treat these conditions when they are found to coexist.

Heather Roebuck, DNP, FNP-BC, FAANP

Management of Postoperative Pain: Applying the New Clinical Practice Guideline from the APS, ASRA and ASA

Despite the focus on improving pain management in acute care settings, less than half of patients who undergo surgical procedures report adequate postoperative pain relief. This presentation will review the latest evidence-based guidelines for the care of children and adults developed by an interdisciplinary expert panel from the American Pain Society, American Society of Anesthesiologists, and the American Society of Regional Anesthesia and Pain Medicine. Various aspects of postoperative pain management will be discussed, including preoperative education, perioperative pain management planning, use of different pharmacological and nonpharmacological modalities, organizational policies, and transition to outpatient care. Specific aspects of multimodal analgesia will be reviewed with discussion of surgery specific protocols. Strategies for reduction and discontinuation of opioid therapy after surgery will be covered.

Robert Montgomery, DNP, ACNS-BC

Without Opioids

It is estimated that up to 84% of adults have low back pain at some time in their lives. The vast majority of patients seen in primary care will have nonspecific low back pain. Failure to diagnose or adequately treat pain has multiple causes which include a lack of educational opportunities for providers, increased concern about opioid addiction and abuse, and difficulty of accurately assessing and managing subjective pain experiences. This presentation will focus on the initial treatment of nonspecific acute back pain in the Retail and UTC setting.

Getting Acquainted with Multifactorial Etiologies of Lower Extremity Wounds

Refresh your knowledge of the cardiovascular system of the leg and wound assessment to provide plausible differential diagnoses of wound manifestations. Common diagnoses with treatment plans will be discussed: venous insufficiency, arterial insufficiency, pressure injury, diabetic foot ulcers and a few zebras.

Pharmacogenomics & Chronic Pain: Putting Science Back into the Treatment of Pain

Pharmacogenomic testing can be appropriate testing option for many patients. How and when to use this test in the treatment of chronic pain will be discussed. Patients suffering with chronic pain oftentimes have multiple co-morbidities and polypharmacy. They may report multiple allergies, and finding the most appropriate medication can be difficult. This presentation will help pain providers better understand the pharmacogenomics science and identify appropriate patients to test. Once the test is performed, understanding what to do with those results will be addressed.

Overview of Papulosquamous Disorders: Assessment, Treatment & Evaluation Pearls

This interactive presentation will provide an overview of the most common papulosquamous disorders including lichen planus, pityriasis rosea, psoriasis, seborrheic dermatitis, atopic dermatitis and other eczematous disorders. We will review differential diagnoses, clinical evaluation tips and provide treatment algorithms and patient education pearls. We also will cover the latest and greatest in therapeutic options and what's coming down the pipeline!

Neuropathic Pain: Strategies for Improved Assessment & Management

Clinicians in most clinical settings are faced with the challenge of treating neuropathic pain (NP). This presentation will discuss approaches to assessment and management of standard and refractory NP. Using a variety of NP models (including painful peripheral neuropathy, postherpetic neuralgia, NP in malignancy, and Complex Regional Pain Syndrome), both pharmacological and non-pharmacological strategies for pain management will be discussed. Medication management will focus on the use of neuromodulators such as antidepressants and anticonvulsants, as well as topical agents, and brief mention of other agents (ketamine, lidocaine, clonidine) for refractory neuropathic pain.

Federal DOT Exams “Head to Toe” of Certification

This presentation will provide the “Head to Toe” of a DOT certification. We will discuss recent updates that affect the examiner and their practice. Current medical examiners and future medical examiners will be given a comprehensive look at a DOT exam. Examiners will go through a virtual assessment and real life scenarios that will help guide them through a full high-quality exam. They also will have a better understanding of health restrictions that can cause a driver to have a medical hold, one year card or two year card, all while keeping our roads safe. The examiner will leave knowing how to best navigate an exam.

B  C  SP16.3.009 Achieving Full Practice Authority: Sharing Strategies from Nebraska

This presentation will describe the timeline of passage of the Nebraska Full Practice Authority bill while exploring stories and lessons learned in the process. We will discuss the importance of building stakeholder relationships in legislative efforts. We will examine the importance of using evidence-based research to support evidence-based policy. In addition, we will identify steps in engaging nurse practitioners in grassroots legislative efforts and the impact of the passage of this bill on nurse practitioners’ political astuteness leading to future efforts.

CU  C  SP16.3.010 Prescribing for the Elderly: Concerns in Polypharmacy with Aging

America is aging and the CDC reports that over the next 25 years the population of those 65 and older will double. Combine that with the fact that two out of every three older adults has multiple chronic conditions and even a simple additional prescription can be a complicated addition to the healthcare of an elder. This presentation will use case studies to examine the issues of prescribing for urgent care issues for our elder patients with chronic conditions and polypharmacy when they arrive at the retail or urgent care facility.

P  P  SP16.3.012 Current Issues with Opioid Overprescribing and Misuse

Overuse of opioids is a national problem. Much national attention is focused on provider over-prescribing and issues related to inappropriate patient screening, lack of awareness for using national prescribing standards, compliance with recommended screening tool use, and poor identification of red flag behaviors. The contemporary national expectation by patients is that freedom from pain is an expected right. The national media, drug advertising, and our national focus on being pain free all promote an expectation that pain treatment is easy, plentiful and results are easily achieved. This presentation focuses on recent government strategies to increase both public and provider awareness, to impact the opioid epidemic, to control access to opioids, to mitigate divergent behaviors and unintended consequences of using opioids and to provide NPs with information that could impact their practices and explain the national attention currently given to the problem and the role that individual NPs who prescribe opioids have in resolving the opioid crisis.

B  C  SP16.3.018 Proactive Business Strategies for NP Employees & Entrepreneurs

All NPs must learn to prioritize their own personal and professional interests whether they are the employee or the practice owner and be prepared for change. One way to be prepared is to adopt a proactive business attitude rather than a reactive one. When making a new career plan, evaluating mid-career options or when making an exit strategy, decisions should be well planned. Proactive strategies involve advanced pre-planned action taken due to opportunities or pending threats. The converse is reactive strategies which involves responses resulting from external factors or triggers affecting your career or business often spontaneously. As a business owner, it may be more comfortable to hold a reactive approach which tends to be more conservative because you watch for external influences before taking action. However, delays here can miss a desirable opportunity or result in career or business stagnation, higher stress level and discontent. A proactive strategy for both the NP employee or business owner allows leveraging of your NP strengths while achieving long-term stability and growth.

You’re the App of My Eye: Innovative Use of the Tablet in the Urgent Care Setting

Those who have become proficient in the use of the iPad have come to depend on reliable point of care information that likely has increased patient education about their condition. After attending this class the NP will gain a working knowledge on the many medical applications available on the iPad in the urgent care setting. This presentation will align with one of the recommendations of the IOM report, The Future of Nursing: Leading Change and Advancing Health.

Advances in Pediatric Dermatology

The purpose of this presentation is to review updated evidence-based treatment guidelines for commonly referred conditions in pediatric dermatology including vascular lesions. Using a case-based approach, differential diagnoses also will be discussed of other conditions that may include features of these conditions and result in a mistaken diagnosis. Additionally, some common diagnoses that pose diagnostic dilemmas for referring providers will be presented with recommendations for further work up and treatment.

Managing Symptoms at End of Life

Individuals approaching the end of life can experience many symptoms including severe pain, dyspnea, agitation and delirium. Families and caregivers often experience significant distress during this time due to the impending death of this individual. The distress is compounded by witnessing the suffering of the individual. This presentation will provide an overview of the most common symptoms experienced by the individual toward the end of life. Principles of communication for goal setting with individuals and caregivers will be presented. Discussion will include the assessment and management of pain, dyspnea, agitation, terminal delirium, excess oral secretions, nausea/vomiting, constipation and xerostomia. Considerations for management will include care of the individuals in the acute care, skilled nursing facility and home.

Coalition Team Building: It’s Not for the Faint at Heart!

Like-minded groups working together in a coalition towards a common purpose have several benefits including enhanced legitimacy, heightened effectiveness, amplified voice, improved working relationships and increased access to resources. A dysfunctional coalition jeopardizes the ability to achieve the desired team outcome. Barriers to a successful coalition include ineffective group decision making, conflict and lack of trust. These challenges can be minimized if the coalition establishes a solid organizational foundation including a well-written mission statement that members sign onto when joining, an agreed-upon set of official operating principles and a commitment to building an effective and cohesive team. This presentation will examine the experience of a statewide coalition of APNs as it developed into a more effective team, focusing on the challenges that the group faced and the strategies used to achieve a better functioning coalition.

Collaboration with Pharmacists for Improved Patient Outcomes in Medication Management

This presentation will review inter-professional collaboration on medication management and adherence practices in Convenient/Urgent Care settings. A look at patient outcomes and satisfaction will be addressed to determine best practices for NPs to follow in collaboration with other professionals on medication management.

P SP16.4.004 Pain Management in Individuals with Serious Illness and Comorbid Substance Abuse Disorder

Pain is a common occurrence in individuals with serious illnesses. Effective pain management can be complicated when the individual has an active comorbid substance use disorder or is in medication assisted treatment. Comprehensive pain assessment includes opioid risk screening to provide safe and effective pain management. An appropriate, safe treatment plan includes the use of universal precautions commonly utilized in managing chronic pain. The discussion will include principles of pain assessment, including risk assessment for individuals with co-morbid substance use disorder. The presentation will include recommendations for implementing safe, effective pain management for these individuals in the ambulatory and acute care setting.

B C SP16.4.005 Follow the Servant Leader: Create a Culture of Commitment

Servant Leadership is a leadership philosophy first championed by Robert Greenleaf in his 1970 essay, “The Servant as Leader.” The premise that servant leaders are servants first and leaders later fits well in the role development of the NP who dedicates their life work to serving others. This leadership therapy describes how people have a natural inclination to serve, and thus make a conscious choice which aspires them to lead more globally. This is in vociferous contrast to our traditional formation of leaders as those who aspire to lead with a driven powerful force often for personal gain. Each participant will perform a personal analysis of servant leadership concepts to gain awareness of their own leadership strengths and weaknesses. This presentation will provide examples of how and when the NP can be empowered and inspired by the ten major characteristics of Servant Leadership. Many companies and health care practitioners have committed to this style of leadership thus building meaningful lifelong careers and creating a better community.

P C SP16.4.008 Chronic Pain in the Cancer Survivor: What Primary Care Providers Need to Know

Chronic pain is a common long-term sequela of cancer treatments, yet many NPs are unfamiliar with appropriate management strategies. Post-cancer care is increasingly in the purview of the PCP due to the combined factors of improved survival rates, increased numbers of older adults, and fewer practicing oncologists. This presentation will describe multiple chronic pain problems commonly seen in the cancer survivor, describe strategies for pain management and highlight pain problems that warrant further workup. Approaches to the use of chronic opioid therapy in the cancer survivor will be specifically discussed.

Nurse Practitioner Education: Life & Leadership in the Fast Lane
Leadership in NP education is more important than ever as the landscape of graduate nursing education is rapidly evolving. With the move toward the DNP, graduate nursing education is at a crossroad. As this degree is implemented in schools throughout the nation, faculty are diligently working to define what the doctorally-prepared NP/clinical scholar should be. Faculty are tasked with facilitating the growth of NP students while meeting the tripartite mission of academia. NP faculty are required to maintain clinical expertise through maintaining practice hours while continuing to participate in service to the university and profession. This presentation will discuss the role of servant leadership in NP education, describe ways nursing faculty members can develop leadership skills, and to discuss why leadership at all levels of nursing academia is so critically important.

Each year, more than a half million people visit the ED for insect stings mostly from bees and wasps, according to the American College of Allergy, Asthma and Immunology. Retail clinics and UTC are seeing a rise in the number of patients seeking care for various environmental insect bites and stings. For most people, a sting or bite is nothing to worry about. For others, it can be fatal. This presentation will cover assessment findings and management for common bites and stings that may present in the UTC or retail setting.

Using National Pain Management Standards to Document Safe Practice: A Regulatory Perspective
Increasing numbers of NPs are challenged to treat acute and chronic pain patients in primary care settings. Referral resources to pain specialists are limited in both rural and urban areas. Treating complex pain patients in family practice settings can result in increased opportunity for patients to utilize manipulations and divergent behaviors that result in unintended consequences that can lead to a prescribing practice investigation by regulators or police. Being aware of, utilizing and clearly documenting nationally vetted pain management standards of care in the NP practice when caring for pain management patients can demonstrate effective compliance with the standards. This can mitigate opioid misuse and also protect the provider by showing that attempts to control misuse were implemented. This presentation discusses methods of managing pain patient misuse issues and complying with complaint and legal investigations. Case studies of investigations will be presented that demonstrate compliance with standards, divergence from standards, or neglecting to meet the standards and the outcomes and discipline associated with the investigation.
