2017 NATIONAL Conference

AANP American Association of Nurse Practitioners®

NPz: Revolutionizing Health Care

JUNE 20 - 25
PENNSYLVANIA CONVENTION CENTER
PHILADELPHIA, PA
As president of the American Association of Nurse Practitioners (AANP), it is my pleasure to invite you to join your colleagues in Philadelphia for the AANP 2017 National Conference, June 20 - 25. In addition to being one of the most celebrated historical cities in the world, where freedom and revolutionary change came together to help guide and form leadership for our country’s structure, Philadelphia is the perfect setting for NPs to gather and discuss ways that can revolutionize the delivery of health care for patients everywhere.

You have come to expect the best from AANP conferences and this one continues that tradition. With approximately 34.75 contact hours of CE credit, updates on state and federal policy, expert speakers who will both educate and entertain you with their presentations, an exhibit hall filled with the latest goods and services for NPs and students, and plenty of networking opportunities, this conference is a must attend event.

On Wednesday, June 21, our opening keynote speaker brings a whole new perspective to attendees with his presentation on What We Forgot to Teach in Nursing and Medical School... and Why It Matters! Dr. Stephen K. Klasko will share his insight into the 21st century art and science of medicine and health care IT. Recently appointed president and CEO of Thomas Jefferson University and TJU Health System, Dr. Klasko brings to his discussion a unique background of academic and administrative medicine, entrepreneurial clinical practice and business and leadership training.

On a more personal note, the AANP 2017 closing general session keynote speaker on Saturday, June 24 will address his experiences as a patient in his talk, When the Provider becomes the Patient. Dr. Kent Brantly, a family medicine physician, was diagnosed with Ebola while serving at ELWA Hospital in Liberia in 2014 and was the first person in the world to be treated with the experimental drug ZMapp. He was also the first Ebola patient to be treated in the United States when he was evacuated to Emory University Hospital. Dr. Brantly currently works in Fort Worth, caring for patients and training family medicine residents at John Peter Smith Hospital.

Our keynote speakers will provide you with two unique perspectives on health care and give you much to think about as we look at the many ways that NPs can revolutionize health care today and in the future. Make plans now to attend AANP’s 2017 National Conference – this is one conference you won’t want to miss.

Due to their educational focus and guideline requirements, attendance is restricted to conference registrants only. To expedite processing attendees into these events, registration/admission will occur at the entrance of each scheduled event, on a first-come first-served basis. CODES FOR SESSION CONTENT LEVELS
Each session within the conference schedule is assigned one of the following content level codes, as applicable. The content levels are based on the Dreyfus Model of Skill Acquisition. In the fields of education and operations research, the Dreyfus Model of Skill Acquisition is a model of how learners acquire skills through formal instruction and practicing.

- [AB] ADVANCED BEGINNER — Advanced beginners take a more holistic approach to the project at hand than novices, but advanced beginners have a limited understanding of the big picture.
- [C] COMPETENT — Competency is achieved when one deliberately starts planning their projects and when they have created routines and structures in their work.
- [P] PROFICIENT — Proficiency is achieved when one can effectively prioritize different elements of their project. One knows they’ve reached proficiency when they truly grasp the whole of what they are trying to achieve.
- [E] EXPERT — Experts possess an “intuitive grasp of situations based on deep, tacit understanding.” Experts forego rules. Instead, they make decisions based on analytical approaches.

CATEGORY AND THERAPEUTIC TOPICS
Clinical presentations in the conference schedule include a designated category and/or therapeutic topic(s) based on the session content. These categories/therapeutic topics were identified by the speakers and AANP staff and can be found next to the code for the Session Content Level in applicable presentations.

DISCLOSURES
Specific titles and descriptions are displayed within each individual session in the online conference registration system. Descriptions also are available in the “Detail Session Listing” at aanp.org/conferences/national-conference.

Attendance at any conference session does not indicate nor guarantee competence or proficiency in the performance of any procedures which may be taught or discussed.

Content presented reflects the knowledge and opinion(s) of the presenters and does not necessarily reflect the positions and views of AANP. While currently confirmed, the conference schedule and speakers may change at any time. AANP reserves the right to change information in this brochure and other conference-related materials without advance notice.

Opening Keynote: What We Forgot to Teach in Nursing and Medical School… and Why It Matters!

- Stephen K. Klasko, MD

Dr. Stephen K. Klasko will take a no-limits look at the very different skill sets and actions needed for NPs and other providers to achieve an optimistic future. He will draw on his experience as the President and CEO of Thomas Jefferson University and Jefferson Health, one of the nation’s seven health science universities, which in its three-year tenure has grown from a three hospital system to a $5 billion, twelve hospital innovation driven care engine for Southeastern Pennsylvania. Dr. Klasko started the first medical school in the country whose students were chosen based on self-awareness and empathy and in which much of the curriculum was interdisciplinary and team based. He is the founding president of Spirit of Women, a grassroots women’s health marketing and health improvement program now adopted by over two hundred health systems. In 2016, he published We CAN Fix Healthcare: The Future is Now, which positioned twelve disruptors for the demise of the old healthcare that (in this alternate universe) both the Democrats and Republicans agreed upon as a national platform.

Closing Keynote:
When the Provider Becomes the Patient
Kent Brantly, MD

Dr. Kent Brantly’s decision to become a health care provider, and the reason many make this same choice, is rooted in a desire to care for the sick and the poor out of a deep sense of compassion. At no time was this more evident than in 2014, when he was diagnosed with Ebola while serving as a medical missionary at ELWA Hospital in Monrovia, Liberia. The health care professionals who treated him there and later, after he was evacuated to Emory University Hospital, showed him that a deep sense of compassion and caring are the true hallmarks of patient care. It was a reminder to him of why he chose to be a health care provider and what happens when provider and patient roles are switched. Dr. Brantly made a full recovery and currently works in Fort Worth, Texas, caring for patients and training family medicine residents at John Peter Smith Hospital.

SPECIAL INITIATIVE
AANP believes in giving back to the host city or state by providing conference attendees an opportunity to show support for the surrounding community. This year our special initiative reaches out to Dress for Success® in Allentown, Pennsylvania.

Dress for Success® is an international not-for-profit organization offering services designed to help their clients find jobs, remain employed and gain economic independence. Conference participants are invited to donate to this clothing drive by bringing new or gently used items such as suits, blouses, dress pants, skirts or accessories like purses and shoes. They even accept jewelry or unused cosmetics. AANP will have collection bins located throughout the convention center.

Make plans now to set aside clothing and accessories to support this special initiative. Show Pennsylvania how much we care and help these women take a crucial first step towards a better future!

THANK YOU CONFERENCE COMMITTEE
